

CULTURES of KNOWLEDGE

Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group

Cultures of Knowledge: An Intellectual Geography of the Seventeenth-Century Republic of Letters in proud association with Routledge is delighted to request the pleasure of your company at a drinks reception celebrating the new partnership between Routledge and a major journal in early modern studies:

The Seventeenth Century

Volume XXVII No. 2

Summer 2012

The Seventeenth Century

General Editor: Richard Maber (Durham University)
Associate Editors: Christopher Brooks (Durham University), Alan Ford (Nottingham University), Paul Hammond (Leeds University)
<http://www.tandfonline.com/rsev>

Thursday, 20 September 2012, 5.15–6.45pm
Senior Common Room, English Faculty, University of Oxford
RSVP miranda.lewis@history.ox.ac.uk

Reception held in conjunction with the conference Communities of Knowledge: Epistolary Cultures in the Early Modern World (English Faculty, University of Oxford, 20–22 September 2012)
<http://communitiesofknowledge.history.ox.ac.uk>